

Maja Kazazic
Introduction

By show of hands, how many of you dream? Who has a goal to accomplish? Whether great or small, we all have aspirations. We must plan to attain them, we must act to meet our objectives. But achievement doesn't come without adversity, and today's speaker is here to equip you with tools for success by sharing her experience and insight.

She is a survivor of the Bosnian Genocide, and surmounted great odds to become a prosperous entrepreneur. Her tenacity led to founding powerful web development, eCommerce and training organizations like Vela Business Solutions. Companies like United Healthcare seek her strategic expertise to develop plans for increasing profitability and productivity. Media outlets like BBC News, The Discovery Network and The Los Angeles Times have featured her triumphs and remarkable story.

The guiding principles of resilience, courage, hope, have enabled our speaker to flourish. Now she's here to demonstrate how these pillars can support our objectives. Today, her goal is to help you reach your goal. Please join me in welcoming, from Palm Harbor, Florida, speaker, businesswoman Maja Kazazic!
